

NATIONAL TROPICAL BOTANICAL GARDEN
AND HAWAI'I INVASIVE SPECIES COUNCIL PRESENTS

YOUTH ENVIRONMENT DAY

Q: WHAT WILL I DO DURING A YOUTH ENVIRONMENT DAY?

A: You will help us malama native plants in one of three amazing locations around Kaua'i. After an awesome picnic lunch (which we provide free!), you will have the opportunity to take part in the Kahu 'Āina Art Competition. Youth Environment Days are open to high school students.

Q: WHAT'S THE KAHU 'ĀINA ART COMPETITION?

A: The Kahu 'Āina Art Competition is for students from ages 5-18 and focuses on Hawai'i's native and cultural plants. Kahu 'Āina means "caretaker of the land," which you most certainly will be on this day.

Using the provided art supplies to paint the special native plants at the site, you will have the chance to create your very own artwork that will be considered for banners, calendars, cards, and displays at the grand re-opening of the Princeville Center on September 15. Awards will include cash and other prizes.
